THE WEREWOLF

Enric Lluch & Pere Mejan

Fred was waiting for the weather forecast on the telly. When he heard it was going to keep on raining, he got very upset. He put on his raincoat and went out into the street.

He went to the Wolf Fountain and drank seven gulps of water.
Suddenly, hair sprouted all over his body and he grew fangs: he had turned into a werewolf!

A moment later Andrew and Martin came along. They took their seven gulps and they too turned into werewolves.

“And now let’s go and howl from the top of the mountain!”
